ingredientbox – a world of difference

Our quality management systems and technical knowledge allow us to work alongside customers and provide unique cost effective ingredient solutions and complete technical support.

Ingredientbox specialises in providing solutions to:

- Nutritional fortification
- Shelf-life extension
- Flavour, colour and textural stability
- Salt and sugar reduction
- Scale up and production process improvement
- Ingredient cost optimization and waste reduction
- Developing unique selling propositions and line extensions
- New product development, and
- Clean label formulation and development.

We provide a complete technical service to support our sales and marketing activities.

Comprehensive ingredient information is provided in the production time zones of our customers. Furthermore we work with our customers in the marketing, development and production areas to maximise ingredient impact and minimise waste.

Ingredientbox uses the services of specialised contract warehousing and logistics providers in all major capital cities to ensure optimum quality and service for even the most demanding of customer requirements.

When it comes to quality we only deal with the best.

The range of products is diverse yet, at the same time, each complements the others. In addition, new suppliers and products are continually being sought and assessed for possible inclusion in our range.

The vast majority of our extensive product range are:

- Natural
- GMO free
- Halal
- Kosher

...and are available ex-stock.

Others can be imported promptly, or as required.

High Standards

Ingredientbox considers the quality of its products and service to be of paramount importance and we continuously review our standards and procedures.

Since our introduction Ingredientbox has achieved and maintained certification for Quality Standards AS/NSZ ISO 22000-2005 which includes HACCP.

Ingredientbox has a diverse group of customers from global multinationals to small specialist manufacturers.

We take pride in our service and welcome enquiries at any time.
